

I think the morse code test should remain at 5 words per minute. It's not too hard to pass and if all the current tech's would get HF bands they would be too crowded to use.